

Leaving employment? Don't forget to:

Leaving your job doesn't mean you have to leave your TCDRS retirement savings behind. You can keep your money in your TCDRS account and continue to earn 7% compound interest each year.

Also, don't forget to:

☐ Register your account at TCDRS.org

Registering online gives you access to your account information and ensures no one else can access it. For your security, be sure to use a personal device to register, such as your cell phone or laptop. You'll need your TCDRS account number, which you can obtain from your employer or by calling TCDRS Member Services.

☐ Update your contact information with TCDRS

Keep your information current so TCDRS can communicate important information directly to you. If you were using your work email with TCDRS, be sure to update it to a personal email address.

☐ Review your beneficiaries

You can review and update your beneficiaries when you sign in to your online account at TCDRS.org. It's a good idea to review your beneficiaries at least once a year and after any life-changing events like getting married or having a child.
